INTRODUCING THE SENIORS
HBs

CLASS POEM OF 1950

There come those times in mortal life
That seem so hard to take;
To graduate is one of these
Of a new world we'll partake.

Now we are just freshmen,
Our life has just begun.
We realize that there will be
Joy, disappointments, pain and fun.

And to our school that's left behind,
We leave our gratitude,
For much it did contribute to
Our mind, soul, and attitude.

It taught us how to work together
With folks we had not seen;
It taught us how to coöperate,
We found what unison means.

All the happiness that we knew
We now will leave behind,
But forget our school — we never will;
To us it has been so kind.

By J. C. McDuffie.
